Course Description: This introductory AT Academy course is intended to equip professionals working in the K-12 school environment with a solid understanding of the Assistive Technology Consideration process as it relates to the selection of appropriate AT accommodations. In addition, course instruction will broaden the awareness and understanding of participants regarding available assistive technology services and tools to support students with learning disabilities who struggle in the areas of reading and writing including the provision of accessible instructional materials.

Target Audience: LEA Special Education/General Education Teachers; AEA Support Staff

Indicators of Quality (Ch. 17 IA Admin. Code, Renewal of Licenses)

- The course assists teachers in improving teaching evidenced through the adoption or application of practices, strategies, and information. Participants will be able to improve their ability to adapt for individual learning differences and provide appropriate accommodations based on appropriate data to guide their decision-making process.

Rationale/Research:
- OSEP 2010 & 2012 National Survey Data for the Provision of AIM indicates that significant work is still needed to raise awareness of AIM and the provision of accessible instructional materials for students who need it. http://aim.cast.org/learn/policy/stateresources/statestatus2012#.U9lj6eNdWyU

Add your original post and provide a thoughtful reply to at least 2 of your peers. (4 points possible for original post and 2 points each for quality reply: total 8 points)

Module 3: Universal Design for Learning (2.5 hrs. content and 1.5 hrs. related activities)

- Intro: What Is UDL? Universal Design for Learning is a set of principals for curriculum development that give all individuals equal opportunities to learn. (www.cast.org, "CAST: About UDL"). In this section you will get a brief overview of Universal Design for Learning to provide a greater understanding of the need to differentiate your instruction and a framework to assist you in this process. - Explore: HIAT UDL Tool Finder: http://www.montgomeryschoolsmd.org/departments/hiat/toolfinder/
- Explore: UDL Toolkit
- Assignment: UDL or AT? You Decide!
  The following four relationships between UDL & AT were identified by LInda Bastiani Wilson (AT Specialist) and Lisa Norris (Media Specialist) from Montgomery County Public Schools in Maryland:

1. UDL mitigates the need for AT because the tools are provided at the outset instead of after the fact.

2. The same tool/strategy can be AT for one student and UDL for others.

3. AT can help create UDL if it is provided to all students as a choice instead of only given to those who qualify.

4. It's not the tool; it's how it's used that matters.

   Reflect on these relationships and the impact the provision of AT and/or UDL can have on the other. Now consider the following list of items and then respond in 1-2 pages your answer to this question: Are these items AT, UDL or potentially both? Give clear examples and detailed rationale for your response.

Objectives/Outcomes, Course Design, Evaluation

Each participant will be able to…
1. Demonstrate an understanding of thoughtful and appropriate consideration of Assistive Technology supports and services.

The course design and the instructor methods to accomplish this objective are…

Participants will demonstrate they know and understand this objective by…
Completion of the SETT framework for a student they have worked with and for a Case Study student example given as homework.

Each participant will be able to…
2. Participants will determine appropriate AT accommodations for reading based difficulties using data sources to select appropriate reading accommodations.

The course design and the instructor methods to accomplish this objective are…
A five-step process to screen and identify students who might benefit from accessible instructional materials will be introduced. The use of the Protocol for Accommodations for Reading (PAR) tool will be introduced to facilitate this consideration.

Participants will demonstrate they know and understand this objective by…
Administration of the PAR to another individual and utilize results gathered to select possible reading accommodations to trial. Rationale will also be provided as part of an assignment.

Each participant will be able to…
3. Participants will consider, select and provide appropriate AT as writing supports for students who exhibit writing difficulty.

The course design and the instructor methods to accomplish this objective are…
Introduction of a 5-Step Process to select appropriate writing supports will be introduced. Various tools and resources to support students with writing difficulties will be explored.

Participants will demonstrate they know and understand this objective by…
Particpants will use the 5-step process introduced to select and provide appropriate AT for writing for students. Assignments/forums will encourage the sharing of the rationale for specific tools selected.

Course Requirements:
Completion of assigned forums, activities and assignments will be required by the dates specified throughout the course.

Course Materials:
Provided via the Canvas Online Course at no cost to participants.

Application /Implementation:
Forums, assigned activities and the final project are designed to provide opportunities for participants to integrate their learning in applied ways to demonstrate and increase their understanding of course material.

Follow-up: GWAEA AT Regional Team members will provide follow-up and continued support as requested by class participants.

Participant Evaluation/Grading Rubric:

1. Discussions – Throughout the course there will be two types of discussion you are expected to participate
   a) Respond/reply – these forums will ask you to respond to a question posed by the instructor about the content covered, asking you to reflect on your understanding and learning. These posts should be original and demonstrate comprehension of course content. You will also be asked to "reply" to the posts of at least two of your peers within each of these forums. Your reply should be no less than THREE sentences and contain reflective thought. You will receive a maximum of 4 points for your original post and up to 2 points for each quality reply with a maximum 8 points per Respond/Reply discussion post.
