

The Business Law major is designed for students who are interested in developing expertise on the legal and regulatory climate that affects business policies and decisions. Coursework emphasizes a systematic framework for analyzing statutes, regulations, case law, and policy while considering corresponding business risks and liabilities. Students would develop expertise on the legal and regulatory climate that affects business policies and decisions and develop essential business skills such as case analysis, critical thinking, and problem-solving. This would serve as valuable preparation for careers in a variety of fields such as compliance, risk management, insurance, banking, securities, real estate, and other governmentally regulated industries. It would also be very useful for entrepreneurs and those students interested in law school.
