

FYS

Describe a significant moment or time in your life when you felt you were representing your identity, others were representing that identity, or both. What was that identity? What did you do to represent it? Why did you feel you had to represent your identity? If others played a role in representing this identity, what exactly did they do? What does this experience suggest to you about the process of representing identity?