Requirements for the History Major

The B.A. in History requires 37 credit hours. Students may earn these credits by taking all history courses, the single major in history option, or by pursuing the 28+9 option, the cross-disciplinary option for double majors.

- The single major in history requires students to complete the major by earning 37 credit hours in history courses.
- The cross-disciplinary option for double majors requires earning 28 credit hours in history courses and counting 9 credit hours (100+ level courses) from a second related major toward the B.A. in History.
- For either option, at least 15 hours in history must be completed at Drake. See also www.drake.edu/history/.
- Up to three hours of internship credit (HIST 195) may count as elective credit, depending on the nature of the internship experience.
