Applications for sabbatical leave must be submitted to the appropriate Dean or administrative supervisor who will make a recommendation based on the applicant's eligibility, the probable advantage or disadvantage to the continuing University program that would result from approval of each individual grant, and what provisions need to be made for carrying the grantee's normal workload. d. Applications submitted to Deans or administrative supervisors will then be forwarded with recommendation to the Provost who will recommend priorities to the President for the applications submitted up to the limit of available funds. Final approval will be by the Board of Trustees upon the recommendation of the President of the University.

4.3422 Compensation Sabbatical compensation is calculated on the principle that while on sabbatical a faculty member receives 100% of the base salary they otherwise would have received for a one-semester sabbatical and 70% of the base salary they otherwise would have received for a full-year sabbatical . a. Faculty on nine-month appointments (1) for a full academic-year sabbatical leave, receive 70% of regular annual salary; (2) for one-semester sabbatical, receive 100% of regular annual salary; or (3) for a calendar-year sabbatical in which one semester of leave occurs in each of two consecutive academic years, receive 85% of the regular annual salary each of the years. b. Individuals who meet requirements for the senior faculty Status Program may return for two years teaching a two-thirds schedule.

b. A recipient who fails to keep the above agreement shall return to the University the amount collected during the sabbatical leave unless specifically released from this obligation by action of the Board of Trustees.

Faculty and administrators while on sabbatical leave will not be permitted to accept employment for remuneration except for unusual circumstances and then only with the written consent of the President of the University. b. The acceptance of research grants, scholarships, or fellowships for further study or travel should not jeopardize a person's eligibility for a sabbatical leave and should be encouraged and approved. c. An award to a recipient of a sabbatical leave from another source shall not reduce the compensation if, in the judgment of the Council of Deans, the conditions of the other award violate neither the letter nor the spirit of the sabbatical leave program.

4.345 Salary and Retirement Protection a. While on sabbatical leave, recipients will receive the same consideration for salary increases that are accorded persons not on leave. b.
