

Summary of Drake Retiree Benefits Programs

(Last Updated July 2023)

Retiree Benefits Eligibility

To retire from Drake University and receive retiree benefits, full-time employees must meet these length of service and age requirements:

Hire Date	Length of Service	Age
Hired prior to January 1, 1982	Employed 10 years or longer	Age 55
Hired on or after January 1, 1982	Employed 15 years or longer	Age 60

Once an employee meets retirement eligibility, the level of benefits may be determined. There are two levels of retiree benefits:

Level I: The first level is for full-time employees hired before September 15, 1994. These retirees are eligible to participate in and receive a Drake contribution toward health insurance costs.

Hire Date	Eligible Retiree Health Benefit
Hired prior to September 15, 1994	Eligible for participation and Drake contribution

Level II: The second level is for full-time employees hired on or after September 15, 1994. While age and years of service allow them to participate in pre-age 65 retiree benefits, they will not receive a Drake contribution toward health insurance costs.

Hire Date	Eligible Retiree Health Benefit
Hired on or after September 15, 1994	Eligible for participation only

A note about post-age 65 health benefit participation: Drake may allow participation in any fully insured benefit option available to Drake retirees age 65 or over at full cost, so long as such participation is feasible. Human Resources can answer questions about whether such products are available at group rates to those who may not otherwise qualify for retiree benefits described above.

Retiree Benefits

Health Insurance: The eligible retiree must elect or temporarily waive coverage within 60 days of the date of retirement to be eligible for subsidized, retiree health benefits. Medicare eligible retirees may participate in a Wellmark Supplement look-alike plan, or a Humana Medicare Advantage Plan. Retirees and their dependents not otherwise eligible for Medicare are eligible for coverage under Drake's active (under age 65) POS Health Plan through Wellmark Blue Cross and Blue Shield (Wellmark BCBS). Such retirees/dependents may continue coverage under Drake’s active plan until they become Medicare eligible.

Here is the current schedule of Drake-subsidized retiree health rates effective January 1, 2023:

- Complete an election/waiver form within sixty (60) days of the retirement date.
- Make premium payments in a timely manner.

Medicare: Retirees and their dependents age 65 and over, and those who are Medicare eligible, must enroll in Medicare Part A and Part B. If you do not enroll in Medicare Parts A and B, you cannot participate in the Humana Advantage or Wellmark Supplement retiree plans. Retirees age 65 and over do not need to enroll in Medicare Part D, as the Drake plans provide prescription drug coverage equivalent to, or better than Medicare Part D.

Eligibility for health coverage ceases if the covered dependent participant remarries or enters into a new domestic partnership.

Life Insurance: Life insurance coverage is continued during retirement for eligible Drake retirees. The insured benefit is $5,000 throughout the retirement period. Drake pays the full cost of the life insurance premium. Benefits are paid to the designated beneficiary at the time of death.
